

Departments – Connexional Secretary Property

Registers kept by Connexional Secretary recording property owned by the Methodist Church throughout New Zealand for reporting purposes to the Methodist Conference.

This collection was created to record a group of records where the provenance was not clear. They also relate to records catalogued under Custodian of Deeds. The registers were kept by the General Secretary of Property for the Wesleyan Church of New Zealand until the appointment of the first Connexional Secretary in 1893.

Parish records relating to property ownership include circuit schedule books and Property Trust minute books and files. See individual parish inventories for specific details.
